THE DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. IV. RALEIGH, FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1865. NO. 265.

THE NEWS.

—Kirby Smith is at Matanzas, Cuba, in broken health.

—Mr. Beecher's religious views net him twenty thousand dollars per annum. Profitable piety.

—The body of Lord Douglas, who made an unexpected descent of 3,000 feet while among the Alps, has been found. His head was driven right into the chest, and one leg was off altogether.

—It is said that Pius IX., on being called upon to make regulations for the protection of Rome against the cholera, declined, and said he would leave the fate of the holy city in the hands of Providence.

—Herschel V. Johnson is at the National Hotel in Washington, and makes considerable noise with his mouth, the noise being of a rebellious order. He has been told several times to stop it, and has complied.

—The fourth line of steamers between Baltimore and Richmond has just been established.

—A nail factory is called for by the people of Lynchburg, Va.

—A Polish agent is now in Virginia looking for a location in which to settle a party of Polish immigrants in that State.

—Twenty-one disreputable houses in Philadelphia were broken up by the police on Tuesday night, and one hundred and twenty-three persons arrested, who marched through the streets to the station house, singing in chorus the song of "Tramp, tramp, tramp!"

—Mr. James Mitchell, son of Mr Jno. Mitchell, visited Fortress Monroe to gain an interview with his father, but was promptly refused admission by the Commandant of the Post.

—The Antietam soldiers' cemetery will consist of seven acres. The area will be twice as large as that of the Gettysburg National Cemetery, and will contain twice as many graves.

—Mr. Ten Eyck of New Jersey is a candidate for the office of Secretary of the United States Senate in place of Mr. Forney, who is figuring for the United States Senatorship for Pennsylvania, for which Simon Cameron will be a strong competitor.

—Maj. Gen. Grover, who was married at Northampton, Mass., a few weeks ago, was not legally tied after all. He didn't know a marriage certificate was necessary to legalise the thing, and the clergyman employed was likewise ignorant. The intention of marriage has since been entered upon the records, just a month after the wedding.

—The venerable old frigate Constitution is reported to have behaved with extraordinary frisknes on her recent voyage from Newport to Annapolis. Discarding the tug sent to "tow" her, she sailed off alone making thirteen and a half knots an hour, and passed everything in the route—Baltimore clippers and all.

—Gen. Swayne, of the Freedmen's Bureau in Alabama, alluding in a circular to the impression prevailing among negroes that plantations will be distributed amongst them at the beginning of next year, tells them they need not hope for anything of the sort, but must go to work and behave themselves.

—A French peasant has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for obtaining money by pretending that he had extraordinary influence with the saints, and could secure farm produce from injury by hail storms, and obtain other benefits for his votaries.

—They had an aurora borealis in New England, a long since, which is said to have been "rather a got-up affair." During its stay telegraphic messages were sent between Boston and Springfield by natural electricity alone, no batteries being used. It is a wonder that some Yankee doesn't capture and appropriate the thing, and force it to supercede batteries entirely.

—The St Louis papers notice the arrest in that city of a girl in male attire, who gave her name as Jenny Clark, and states that she had been a drummer "boy" in the 144th Illinois for about a year and lived in Springfield. She is about sixteen years old, and has a father in the army, her mother being dead. The Recorder fined her five dollars.

—Travelers may now go by rail from New York city to Columbus, Georgia. The trip occupies five days and costs sixty-six dollars. By steam from here to Savannah and thence by rail, the fare is seventy-three dollars, and the time occupied is eight days.

—The Richmond and Danville Railroad, which was lately turned over by the military authorities to Thomas Dodamead, the Company's Superintendent, is one of the best paying roads in the South. The net earnings from the seventeenth day of June to the thirty-first day of August, a period of seventy-six days, over all expenditures, were within a small fraction of sixty-nine thousand dollars.

—A negro named John Smallwood, who Tuesday last, committed a grave assault upon a Mrs. King of Preston, was arrested the same day, taken to the County Court, then in session, indicted, arraigned, furnished with counsel, pleaded guilty, and before early bed time at night had been convicted and sentenced to State Prison for fifteen years.

—A little boy named Willie Wood, only thirteen years of age, son of Captain Jeburn G. Wood of the United States Navy, saved the life of a young companion at Cushing's Islands, in Maine, last Friday, under circumstances which show him to be a true little hero. Walter Bean, aged five years, fell from the wharf and sunk in quite a depth of water. Young Wood saw there was but one way to rescue him, and divesting himself of his outer garments, plunged in head foremost and brought him to the surface, where he coolly secured him by one of his arms and swam ashore with the other.

—Thomas McLaughlin, at East Haddam, Conn., a jail-bird, tried to kill himself Tuesday, because he was going to the State prison for three years. His first attempt was by hanging; the second by eating a small looking-glass; the third, Both failed. He is going to try a railway train next, when he calculates to leave the world.

—We learn that the Secretary of the Treasury has appointed J. L. Ringwalt, of Philadelphia, an agent to visit the branch mint at Denver, Colorado Territory, to investigate the feasibility of transporting bullion to the Atlantic coast by the Government, and accommodating miners with Eastern exchange, which might take the form of gold notes redeemable at Government depositories, and which would be used to a considerable extent as currency among the miners.

—A remarkable pony team, five in hand, the property of Agatha Fortunata, was on the grounds of the National Horse Fair at Hartford. The team averages ten hands in height, weighs 1,920 pounds, and cost over $2,000. One was a Scotch pony, brown, with a white saddle cloth back; one was a dark chestnut Arabian, and the others, sorrel, were from Calcutta, the only animals of their kind in the country. Miss Agatha drove on the track, her father assisting. Petroleum did it.

THE NEWS.

Queen [illegible] yesterday the report that several persons in Norfolk and Portsmouth [illegible] letters from that vicinity [illegible] of cholera. Whether [illegible] writers were or were [illegible] that the reports of the [illegible] which were carelessly [illegible] since, have passed [illegible] Europe till now under a visitation of the scourge. The usual alarm is experienced [illegible] of persons accepting its coming as a dispensation to which we must submit and another class [illegible] to mitigate the severity of the [illegible] and to cure the disease.

One writer declares, very [illegible] cleanliness, good food, regular habits, will almost secure a person or a place, and where these are wanting there is no security.

Another assures us that cholera, in its first stage, can always be successfully treated, unless the system is weakened by other diseases, by dissipation, or by some special cause. A Rev. Dr. Hamlin suggests this cholera mixture: Equal parts, by weight, of liquid laudanum, spirits of camphor and tincture of Rhubbard; which has been used not only by him, but by many others with the greatest success in meeting the first stages of the diseases. If diarrhœa is carefully kept off by the use of this mixture, the danger of the cholera is said to be very slight.

A NEW HAT FOR THE MASCULINE.—The ladies have enjoyed an exclusiveness in the matter of hats for so long a period, that we had begun to think the other sex would have no change in the future in their head gearing. But one of the principal hat dealers in Paris has originated a new style of covering for the head, for gentlemen, which promises to supplant the ordinary beaver hat in all fashionable circles. The beaver hat, in fact, has sustained nearly all the possible transmogrifications of form that art could suggest, and both people and makers have grown weary of it. The new chapeau combines the form of a turban, a shako, and a helmet, advancing considerably beyond the head in front, and sloping down at the back part. The materials used are silk, enameled paper prepared by a peculiar process, and a very narrow gilt band. It has a peculiar method of ventillation and is altogether of a very jaunty and semi-military appearance.

We hope that the new hat, when it comes over, will be fashioned with some reference to the shape of the heads of the human family. With his spirit of going-ahead, it would not surprise us if KINSEY should at an early day expose them for sale at his truly tasteful establishment.

WHO IS HE.—We hear that a few days since a suspicious looking customer, representing himself as formerly an adjutant in the U. S. army, was passing about Raleigh, pretending that he had superceded both the associate editors of this paper. He is an errant impostor, in whose statement there is not a particle of truth. Not long since, we extended an invitation to gentlemen whom we knew to contribute to the city department such items of news as they might be able, but no such man as the one referred to has any connection with this journal.

THE TRUTH OUT.—The Progress has frequently cautioned its readers against accepting the different denominations of the national currency without examination. Papers at a distance have an invariably denied that notes of a counterfeit character were in circulation. Now we have it direct from Washington that $100 compound interest notes of a spurious kind have been uttered in large numbers, together with other counterfeit notes. We therefore repeat our warning to merchants, tradesmen and others.

VERY, VERY HARD.—There are a great many hard things in this world; for instance, "hard cider," "hard knocks," "hard crabs," "hard fortune," "hard times," "hard at it," "hard trials," "hard to tell," and hardest of all, "hardware," under which denomination come a whole lot of iron and steel jawbreakers, which we cannot by any means enumerate. If, however, there are those who wish to be made familiar with the technicalities of the hardware trade, we refer them to our friend CARRAWAY, with Heart & Lewis, who has in store a large and general assortment.

THE RIGHT WAY.—It is intimated semi-officially that the Baptists of Raleigh are making arrangements for a substantial expression of the esteem in which they hold Rev. Mr. Pritchard, lately in pastoral connection with their church. It will be in the form, we believe, of contributions to aid in rebuilding the church of which he is now pastor in Petersburg, which, our readers will remember, was recently struck by lightning and totally destroyed.

SEE TO IT.—A citizen represents to us that there ought to be something done by the proper authorities to remedy the stench arising from stagnant water in the immediate vicinity of the pump at the market house. An examination of the spot will show, we think, that the fault is with those who use water from that place of supply, resulting from careless drawing and spilling. At all events, it will doubtless be remedied.

ATTEMPT TO KILL.—A soldier formerly connected with the [illegible] Volunteers, who arrived here last night from Gotham, relates that [illegible] of the [illegible] made an attempt on the life of Lieut. Col. J. M. McDonald, lately in command of the post of Raleigh. His [illegible] was prevented by [illegible]

THE COTTON.

Quite [illegible] yesterday the report that several persons in Norfolk and Portsmouth [illegible] letters from that vicinity [illegible] of cholera. For Sale—a grocery stand.

E. P. Williamson & Co.—Boots, Wrapping Paper, Hardware, and other things.

Towles' Auction Store—Sale of Bagatelle Table, &c.

Loss his Memory.—A soldier named Jenkins without the prudence his war experience ought to have infused into his composition, left college yesterday afternoon, near the door of the transportation office at the North Carolina depot, and was relieved of his pocket-book and twenty dollars. Such is the fate of all who trust to "luck" on the street.

FUN.—Sanford's "Grand Combination Operatic Troupe" will commence a series of popular entertainments at the Exchange Hotel, this evening. We are reminded by our informant that this is one of the most popular concert organizations in the country, north or south. The programs will be issued during to-day and to them we point for particulars.

ALLOWED BAIL.—We hear that the students at Chapel Hill, and a few other white persons, who were brought to this city a few days since upon the charge of disturbing a negro convocation in the vicinity of the University, have had a preliminary examination and been admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000 each, for their appearance here to-morrow.

GEN. BUTLER AGAIN.—Gen. Butler, with an eye to the nomination for Governor, at the Republican Convention at Worcester, Mass., advocated negro suffrage in a speech in which he threw himself into the arms of the Massachusetts Radicals, upon that and kindred subjects. Col. Bullock, however, received the nomination that Ben sought, and so the General had his trouble for his pains. That point having been decided, Butler's chance is now to retain his commission if possible. A proper sense of disgust also, will probably induce him to keep quiet hereafter on political subjects. He has deserted the Democrats, and the Radicals will have none of him—what is he to do? Let him deliver one more speech when the sword subscribed for by his negro friends is presented to him, and let that speech be his last. He is neither ornamental nor useful. Humanity has been vexed with him long enough, and public opinion demands that he remain quiet hereafter.—Commercial Bulletin.

THE CONFEDERATE ARCHIVES.—The Bureau of "Confederate" Archives, under the charge of Dr. Francis Lieber, is now at work upon the examination and classification of the five hundred boxes of archives of the late Confederate Government. These documents relate to every department and period of the rebellion, and cover the larger part of its civil and military history. The title of the bureau has been changed to the Archive Office of the War Department.

De Sauty is understood to entertain the opinion that the water spout seen sometime since a thousand miles or so west of Ireland, was the identical spout the Atlantic cable has gone up. Others contend, however, that it has not gone up at all, but has simply "gone under."

DAILY PROGRESS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1865.

Rivalry among the Southern States.

There is such an identity of interest in a political sense, among the States of the South, as to make it next to impossible that there will ever be any serious division between them as to governmental policy. But in another aspect—in their endeavor for commercial advancement—success in mining and manufacturing, and like matters—they may and should struggle upon the basis of their individuality. It is the only road to that wealth and general prosperity which is justly the ambition of every one in whom there exists a particle of public spirit.

We do not now propose to claim for North Carolina advantages superior in all respects to those of Virginia and others of the sisterhood; but no one will dispute that her fields, mines, rivers and seaboard are of such fertility, inexhaustibility, extent and value as to open to the genius of enterprise inducements of no ordinary character. In such light we have but little if anything to apprehend. The danger does not originate in that direction—the only issue is whether our citizens will adopt a liberal, attractive, christian line of conduct with the view of diverting capital, energy and immigration from the old channels into the new one: North Carolina. It ought to be universally recognised as a truism: that those Southern communities which earliest organize on such generous ideas will be the only ones who can certainly hope for a brilliant future. We must not stand upon a social, trade or political platform in no wise essentially differing from the contracted, narrow-minded, isolated, heathenish standard of the Japanese people and government. It will, if persisted in, impoverish us in a material point of view and defeat that political growth which, if not hindered, might in a few years vest the Southern States with a preponderance of political strength, even in the national counsels.

In Tennessee and Mississippi there appears to be a full and clear recognition of these things, and consequently we find the people making stupendous efforts to secure population from the North as well as Europe. If we only put forth endeavors of like nature, we shall not fail in the race for State growth. It must be our constant aim not only to subdue those prejudices which have no support in religion or reason—in civilization or interest—but it will be requisite to watch lest cupidity forbid the location in our midst of most worthy and desirable personages. One and a most dangerous method—palseying in its operation—is to fix such prices on lands and other property as to deter if not forbid investment. The practice has in many instances grown until it became prohibitory, and thus development was prevented.

A recent and marked instance of this kind has been seen in Norfolk, where tenants and landlords have collided in a form most detrimental to the prospects of that splendid seaport city.

The Old Dominion gives the proceedings of a large meeting of the tenants of Norfolk, called to protest against the extortion of real estate owners. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the owners of real estate of the city of Norfolk, have, in the opinion of this meeting, proposed to increase the rents of their tenements for the ensuing year to an extent that the business prospects of the city, for a number of years to come will by no means justify; and whereas such a course, if steadily pursued by them and acquiesced in by those whose necessities compel them to be renters of such tenements, will destroy all hopes of the future prosperity of the city, and result in disaster to the community; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the tenants of real estate of this city, will and do absolutely refuse to enter into contracts with the owners thereof for the use of their tenements for the ensuing year at the rates generally demanded by them. * * * * *

Resolved, That in the event of being compelled to submit to the proposed extortion, we will by all the moral and political power that force of numbers can exert, endeavor to cause the real estate of the city to be taxed to such an extent, as that the owners thereof will find it agreeable and profitable to transfer their possessions for a reasonable price to others, whose avarice will not blind them to the interests of the community and of themselves.

Resolved, That the action of this meeting is not intended to detract in any degree from the moral or legal rights of any class of persons; but only to vindicate that we, the tenants of the city of Norfolk, have moral and legal rights which it is our duty as well as our pleasure to protect and defend.

On motion, a committee of five was appointed to take measures relative to the organization of a Building Association, and to report at a future meeting.

This tells the story as thoroughly as if we should elaborate it through a hundred columns. Let us of North Carolina be warned, then, by this pernicious example of intended extortion, not merely in the matter of rentals and as to towns and cities, but all points in our dear old State.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.—Herschel V. Johnson, of Georgia, returned to Washington on Thursday from a visit to Alexander H. Stephens, in Fort Warren. He spent last Friday with Mr. Stephens, and reports him in ordinary health and as comfortably situated as any one can be in confinement. He has the freedom of the fort, and is allowed to receive the visits of friends. Quite as many are admitted as he desires to receive. His brother, Linton Stephens, who accompanied Mr. Johnson to Fort Warren, remains there still, and is permitted to sleep in his brother's apartments and join him in his walks for exercise. Mr. Stephens will probably not be pardoned until the question of reconstruction is practically settled by the admission of representatives from the Southern States.—Washington Correspondence New York Herald.

Authors at Work.

Mr. Longfellow is occupied with the notes for his translation of Dante's great poem. The whole work of translation is finished, but as the notes will be very full, the publication is delayed until the entire body of illustrative matter is finished.

Mr. Lowell is carrying through the press a second series of his "Bigiow Papers," adding much that is new and timely to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Agassiz have finished reading the proofs of their "Seaside Studies," and the work—a very elegant one—is nearly ready.

Mr. Emerson is preparing a series of essays for the Atlantic Monthly. Prof. Holmes and Mr. Stowe are also occupied in the preparation of good things for the same periodical.

Mr. Brownell is correcting the proof-sheets of his poem soon to be issued. No volume of verse will receive a warmer welcome this year, for the soul of song lives in the vigorous lines of this sterling writer.

Mrs. Childs has put into her publishers' hands a new book of great interest, which will soon be issued. The title is not yet announced, but it is understood to be a biographical and anecdotical volume of special import to the present state of our country.

Mr. Bancroft is at Newport, busily engaged on the eighth volume of his "History of the United States."

Mrs. R. H. Stoddard has a new novel nearly ready for the press. It is said to be a story of New England life and manners.

Mr. Bayard Taylor has lately finished a poem of considerable length, upon which he has been for some time engaged, and which is entitled "The Picture of St. John." It is understood to be a tale or idyl of art-life, the scene being laid in Italy and thereabouts. We presume it will be published this fall by Messrs. Ticknor & Co.

A Southern author, Mr. John Esten Cooke, who is living somewhere in his native State, Virginia, is writing a romance of the war for New York publishers.

M. Victor Hugo has three new works ready for the press. They will be published, it is said, in the following order, at intervals of about three months: "Songs of the Streets and Woods;" "The Workmen of the Sea;" and a volume containing two plays, "Torquemada," a drama, in five acts, and "The Grandmother," a comedy, in one act.

AN APPEAL FROM THE FENIANS.—The Rochester Circle of the Fenians have issued an appeal which says:

We, the members of the Rochester Circle of the Fenian brotherhood, appeal to our American fellow-citizens to obtain freedom for Ireland. The sons of Ireland have sworn to be free. The men of Ireland have said: "Long enough, God knows long enough, have we watched and waited and trusted—long enough have we been cajoled, derided and deceived—long enough have we grouped in the fog with casuists and pretenders. It is time for us to act." These were not words tossed to the eddies for the winds.—They were in terrible earnest. Silent, straight-forward, swift, the cause progressed. Sincere, resolute and undismayed, with their hearts in the work and their reliance on God, they created a mighty force. It is now ready to act. Already over the hoarse surging of the sea comes to our ears the sweet voice of Liberty, girding up her loins to do battle with the oppressor. Already on the Eastern horizon flashes the banner of Erin, upheld by the strong arm of patriotism, and borne to victory by the relentless audacity of outraged and desperate men. Everything is staked upon the result—life and manliness and freedom and honor and hope. The blow will be a bitter blow, struck by the arms of men crushed and scourged and mocked through centuries of treachery and blood—men moved to madness by the knowledge of atrocities inflicted on their race, the utter intensity of which it has not entered into the hearts of other men to conceive.

The Grave of Calhoun.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, writing from Charleston, says:

[illegible] of the churchyard of St. Philip, one of the oldest in the churches [illegible] the most aristocratic cemetery in the country, is a grave which [illegible] curious to see. There are only the four plain panelled brick walls about three feet high, and on them a massive white marbled slab, some nine feet by four in size. At the head of the grave is a single sickly ten-foot high magnolia bush. At each corner of the lot is a straggling old shagbark [illegible] tree, and about midway on the right there is also a small white rose bush. All around the earth plot is a border of myrtle—sweet in its rich greenness, but untrimmed and broken and gone to seed. It is the grave of the father of the rebellion, and on the marble slab there is cut the one word—

"CALHOUN."

The churchyard symbolizes the city of Charleston. Children and goats crawl through a convenient hole in the front wall and play at will among the sunken graves and broken tombstones. There is a wealth of offal and garbage and beef bones. Rats dodge about as you walk pensively up and down. A mangy cur was stalking among the stones, and I found a hole three feet deep which he had dug at the foot of one of the graves. Children were quarrelling for flowers over one of the more recent mounds. The whole yard is grown up to weeds and brush, and the place is desolate and dreary as it well can be; more desolate because cruel hands have broken away the corners of the great marble slab of Calhoun—for mementoes, I suppose. Time was when South Carolina guarded this grave as a holy spot. Now it lies in ruin with her chief city. When Northern life shall rebuild and revivify that city, let us pray it may also set chaste and simple beauty around this grave, for there is no need to wish the brave but bad spirit of Calhoun greater punishment than it must have in seeing the woe and waste and mourning which the war has brought the region he loved so well.

AFTER WIRZ.—On Tuesday afternoon, after the commission for the trial of Wirz had adjourned, and the prisoner was being taken to his quarters at the Old Capitol, in charge of the guard, an elderly lady, aged about fifty or sixty years, who had been waiting to see him, stepped up to one of the guard and inquired if the prisoner was the Andersonville butcher. She was answered in the affirmative, when she flew into a paroxysm of passion, and endeavored to strike him with her umbrella, exclaiming, "You wretch, you butcher, you murdered my son at Andersonville." Being unable to reach him, she got a brick and begged the guards to let her get at him. It was with some difficulty that she could be restrained, and the prisoner conveyed to his quarters.

It was ascertained that she was an Ohio woman, who is here for the purpose of procuring the back pay of her sons, all four of whom have been in service—one having been killed in battle, one murdered at Andersonville, another hopelessly insane by the treatment there, and the fourth only left to return to his home at the close of the war.

PHYSIOLOGICAL PHENOMENA.—An army correspondent writes: In the army and among returned soldiers, I have noticed one fact in particular, somewhat at variance with the usual theories. It is that light-haired men, of the nervous sanguine type, stand campaigning better than the dark-haired men, of bilious temperament. Look through a raw regiment on its way to the field, and you will find fully one-half of its members to be of the black hair, dark skinned, large bodied, bilious type. See that same regiment on its return for muster out, and you will find that the black haired element has melted away, leaving at least two-thirds, perhaps three-fourths, of the regiment to be represented by red, brown and flaxen hair. It is also noticeable that men from the cities, slighter in physique, and apparently at the outset unable to endure hunger and privation, stand a severe campaign much better than men from agricultural districts. A thin, pale looking dry goods clerk will do more marching and starving than many a plough boy who looks muscular enough to take a bull by the tail and throw him over a stake-and-rider fence.

TRADE.—The quantities of goods arriving here and being opened for the fall season are enormous. At every place is to be seen new supplies and more are said to be on the way. No one of our merchants are yet heard to complain for want of buyers, but speak very flatteringly indeed of their transactions. New business houses are being opened at every available place, and if the demand for house-room be anything to judge by there is certainly to be more business done here this fall and winter, than was ever before transacted in one season. Accounts from the up-country justify, to a great extent, the belief that these preparations for the coming trade are not too great, as there are yet a large scope of country not yet reached that is to be supplied with goods, and that too from this city.—Wil. Herald.

NATIONAL TOBACCO CONVENTION.—The National Tobacco Convention, under the auspices of the Kentucky Board of Agriculture, will be held at Louisville on the second Wednesday of September. The object of this convention is stated as follows:

The prime object of the convention is to get together, from all sections of the Union, the practical minds of trade, with a view to such modification of the present excise law, so far as tobacco is concerned, as will eventuate in the passage, by the next Congress, of a thorough and well digested plan of taxation that will yield the largest possible amount of revenue to the government with the least embarrassment to the culture and manufacture of the article.

Take the Papers.

BY N. P. WILLIS.

Why don't you take the papers?
They're the life of my delight;
Except about election time,
And then I read for spite.

Rather the rye peasant lose a cent—
For cash thus paid is money lent
On interest, four fold paid.

Go then and take the papers,
And pay to-day not any delay,
You'll live till you are gray.

An old friend of mine,
While dying from a cough,
Desired to hear the latest news,
While he was dying off.

I took the paper, and I read
Of some new Pills in force,
He bought a box—and is he dead?
No—hearty as a horse.

I knew a printer's debtor once,
Ill with a scorching fever,
Who swore to pay her debt next day,
If her distress would leave her.

Next morning she was at her work.
Divested of her pain;
But did forget to pay her debt,
Till taken down again.

"Here, Jessie, take these silver wheels,
And pay the printer now!"
She slept and slept, and then awoke
With health upon her brow.

I know two men, as much alike,
As e'er you saw two stumps;
And no phrenologist could find
A difference in their bumps.

One takes the papers, and his life
Is happier than a king's;
His children all can read and write
And talk of men and things.

The other took no paper, and
While strolling through the wood,
A tree fell down and broke his crown,
And killed him, "very good."

Had he been reading of the news,
At home like neighbor Jim,
I'll bet a cent that accident
Would not have happened him.

Then, Sirs, you talk of papers?
Nor from the printer sneak,
Because you borrow of his boy
A paper every week.

For he who takes the papers,
And pays his bills when due,
Can live in peace with God and man,
And with the printer too.

Fun for the Million.

Some of the young ladies say that the times are so hard that young men cannot pay their addresses.

The Cleveland Herald says that President Johnson's plan throws to the rebel States a rope with which they can make their choice—tie up to the Union, or hang themselves.

The newest thing out is "plumpers" for hollow-cheeked damsels. The plumpers are made of porous pear shaped form, flatten one side and buttons on the other. They fit on the inside of the cheeks, giving a round, plump appearance; hence, dustless, their name.

At St. Paul, Minnesota, the only accident that befell General Grant was that he was attacked by a lady with a bouquet, which was proffered to him for kiss. Considering himself hopelessly at bay, he made an unconditional surrender and kissed the lady.

A Norfolk paper, alluding to the rage for candy treatings at the North, remarks that for the last four years, they have had quite enough of them at the South!

"Is that a large pelle?" asked a gentleman of a street dealer, as he pointed to a pear. "No," replied the pedlar, "it's ten cents."

At North Riding, England, an inquest was recently held on the body of an old man, who was employed to carry refreshments to a sporting party, and who, on his way, took a slice of bacon and tried to swallow it. The bacon stuck in his throat and killed him.

An old fellow out in Wayne county, who has advertised his wife six or seven times, had the assurance recently to ask that genial editor of the Wayne Republican to print the customary advertisements for publication in consideration of his being "a regular customer."

TRAGEDY IN KENTUCKY.—A GIRL KILLS ONE MAN AND NEARLY MURDERS ANOTHER.—The Louisville papers give the following details of a recent tragedy which excites deep interest in that section:

A young girl by the name of Joan Stoniker had gone to Sulphur Well for the purpose of procuring some cider. On the road home she met a young man by the name of Mat Rhodes, and the two stopped in the woods through which they were passing to have a few minutes' conversation. Rhodes had his gun in his hand, having been hunting.

The girl states that while they were thus engaged in conversation, George Day, Sr., and George Day, Jr., advanced toward them with their guns in their hands, they having been out hunting cows. The Days at once commenced firing at Rhodes, and advanced toward them with their guns. Rhodes was inclined to run away, when she remarked: "Will you let those men scare you? They cannot make me run," and then commenced firing the gun. The Days then called her by various hard names, when she raised the gun and fired, the contents lodging in the head of George Day, Sr., who fell a corpse to the ground. The girl then took the gun and struck the old man two or three times over the head, breaking the stock off. The parties surrendered themselves, and are now confined in the county jail.

MISCONSTRUED.—The Norfolk (Virginia) Day-Book furnishes the following about misconstruction:

"In the Mayor's court, Norfolk, a thick-lipped, flat-nosed negress was brought in for stealing cabbage. Pending the examination, Sykes Miller, white, discharged soldier of Third Pennsylvania artillery, appeared and claimed the poor creature as his prize having married her at Old Point. His appearance excited the merriment of the bystanders, and something else excited the old man, he offered his arm to the negress, and marched her off in triumph."

I have opened in the R. SMITH BUILDING, formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, commission merchants and auctioneers, corner of Harget and Fayetteville streets.

I am not going to puff and blow, and say that I bought more goods than any man living, and can sell cheaper than any other man or sell more. Nor do I pretend to say that I can eat a man's head off and stick it on again with wax, that he will live, walk and talk again. I deal in no such humbug, but I say CALL and LOOK for yourselves. I will deal with you honestly and treat you right.

In return my thanks for your liberal patronage which I have received for the last fifteen years. I hope by honest dealing, and strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

LATEST NEWS.

THE ALABAMA CONVENTION.

RESOLUTIONS SUBMITTED TO IT.

THE TRIAL OF WIRZ.

Gov. Perry's Message.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

From Northern papers received by express yesterday we extract the following important items of news:

ALABAMA CONVENTION.

MONTGOMERY, Sept. 15th.

The New Orleans Times' special correspondent says that Convention did nothing yesterday of importance, except the announcing of the standing committees and the offering of a resolution repudiating the State debt incurred during the war.

Resolutions were introduced to the effect that the object of the Convention is to adopt measures necessary to restore the State to its proper relation with the United States Government, after the accomplishment of which, the duty of the Convention at the present session will be performed; and that it will not be expedient until the next session to make a change in the Constitution, except the adoption of an ordinance repealing the ordinance of secession, and other ordinances consequent upon the same; acknowledging the abolition of slavery in the State by the military power of the United States; providing protection for the slaves; ratifying laws enacted at a subsequent session; judicial decisions and decrees of courts of equity, not incompatible with the Constitution of the United States, and that in view of the exigencies of the new united relations and proposed change of the Constitution.

The Convention met at the call of the president, who is empowered to convene the body at any future time, when, in his judgment, it is deemed proper for the welfare of the State.

The resolutions were laid over until to-morrow.

TPE WIRZ TRIAL.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Judge Advocate Chipman stated this morning that he had subpœnaed ninety witnesses for the defence, of Capt. Wirz, and Mr. Baker said he had twenty-two, but they would not all be wanted. The prisoner appeared to-day to be somewhat improved in health, though he was compelled by weakness to lie on the sofa during the progress of the tril.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

New York, Sept 19.—The steamship Quaker City has arrived from Charleston on the 16th.

The Currier contains Gov. Perry's message to the State Convention. He acknowledges the death of slavery and counsels a wise, just and humane treatment of the freedmrn, by which they may become as strongly attached to the whites as whilst they were slaves. Legislation, he says, will be required to regulate the relative duties of employer and employe. The Governor suggests changes in the State Constitution, making it more popular and Republican in form.

It is the reproach of South Carolina that it is less so than any other State in the Union. He is opposed to the extension of suffrage to the freedmen in their present ignorant and degraded condition, as little less than folly and madness. He contends that this is the white man's government and the white man's only. That the Supreme Court has decided that negroes are not citizens, and that each State has the unquestioned right to decide for herself who shall vote. He suggests the election by the people of the Governor, members of Congress, Legislature and Presidential Electors directly by the people; and that the Legislature should be elected and convened in session to order an election for Congressman before the first Monday of December.

The future, he says, will be bright and glorious. As long as civilization continues, this great republic will flourish and increase in numbers, wealth and grandeur. In less than ten years we shall realize in the loss of slavery a blessing in disguise to ourselves and to our children. He notifies the convention of the re-establishment of the civil law and courts, and the withdrawal of the negro troops from the interior to the garrison on the coast. The presence of white troops, will, he says, be necessary for some time to enforce the relative duties of freedmen and employers.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Odd Fellow's convention, now in session in Baltimore, has invited President Johnson to attend the ceremony of reinitiating of the "Statue of Charity." It is understood that he accepted.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Sept 20.

Cotton sales—sales 100 oales at 48 cents.

Gold slightly advanced, and sold to-day at 144

At the large fire Monday, 9,000 instead of 900 bales of cotton were burnt.

A correspondent of the Methodist. Advocate and Journal, who has just visited Bishop Soule at his residence, about eight miles from Nashville, thus describes him:

I turned down a rough, narow lane leading to an unpretending, low, one storied cottage. On its narrow piazza an old man was tottering about.—On a nearer approach, I found him to be feeble, brown and very poorly dressed. I had been accustomed, for nearly a quarter of a century, to hear of Bishop Soule as a man of great personal dignity, and of commanding presence. I made all the allowance which age and misfortune seemed to demand, and still my idea was far from being reached. The bishop, neither in appearance nor conversation, gave any sign of having possessed any great intellectual vigor. Whatever he may have been, he is now a poor, sorrowful, broken down old man By the time this is in print, he will be over eighty-four years of age. He told me that he joined the traveling connection in 1799 and that there was but one now in connection with the Methodist church that had served as long as he.

Treaty.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 14.—The following tribes to-day signed a treaty of permanent peace with the United States, as represented by loyal delegates, viz: Osages, Seminoles, Creeks, Quapaws, Cowskins, Senecas, Shawnees, Cheerows and Quapaws. The treaty concludes as follows:

"——, the undersigned, do hereby acknowledge themselves to be under the protection of the United States of America, and covenant and agree that hereafter they will in all things recognize the President of the United States as exercising executive jurisdiction over them, and will not enter into any allegiance or conventional agreement with any State, nation, power or sovereign whatsoever, and that any treaty of allegiance for the cession of land, or any act heretofore done by them or any of their people, by which they renounced their allegiance to the United States, is hereby revoked, canceled and repudiated."

In consideration of the foregoing stipulations, made by the members of the respective nations and tribes of Indians present, the United States through its commissioners, promise that it will re-establish peace and friendship with all the nations and tribes of Indians within the limits of the so-called Indian country, that it will afford ample protection for the security of the persons and property of the respective nations or tribes, and declares its willingness to enter into treaties to arrange and settle all questions relating to and growing out of former treaties with such nations as are affected by any treaty made by said nation with the so-called Confederate States, as this Council now convened for that purpose, or at such time in future as may be appointed.

THE WOMEN OF THE SOUTH.—Governor Brownlow thus speaks of the Southern women in his paper, the Knoxville Whig:

"From the commencement of the rebellion until now, the devil and the women of the South have been the ablest allies the cause of treason had in the field. The influence of the women, backed up by his Satanic Majesty, filled the ranks of the rebel armies, and gave ardor and endurance to the henpecked men that entered the service. Southern women even petitioned the rebel Congress to enact the law of conscription, so as to force all in the service. Through the influence which women had, thousands were forced into the field, and thence to their graves, who never would have left home. Playing into the hands of the devil, by thus filling his ranks, they had his approval all the time. Wives gave up their husbands, sisters their brothers, and mothers their sons—willing, nay anxious to immolate their lives to the Moloch of war. The women were willing to wear homespun; ready to dispense with the luxuries of table or toilet; ready to fling all their jewelry into the Confederate crucible; ready to unsex themselves for the cause of the devil and the Confederacy.

SUICIDE OF A WOMAN—HER LAST LETTER.—The Wyoming (N. Y.) Democrat announces the suicide of Mrs. Sharpsteen, wife of Seward Sharpsteen, who resides in the town of Lester, near Perry.—Mrs. Sharpsteen had been out of health for some time—her throat and head being seriously affected. She was about twenty five years of age, and committed the fatal act by hanging herself in the barn. Previous to committing the deed she left the following note in the drawer of her husband's secretary:

"DEAREST SEWARD: Oh, do forgive me and pray for me as I pray for myself. I am no good in this world, and I do not know as I am in any; but, oh, when you think of me, think of Clara as she used to be, not as I am now. I pity you, and I have tried hard to be some help to you, but I cannot, and it has worried me to death. Oh, do not cease to love me! I am so wretched! Tell them all goodby for me. Oh, I have prayed night and day. Oh, dear me! Goodby! Farewell, and a sweet spirit-kiss! Oh, unhappy Clara! Oh, Seward, you have done everthing in the world for me, and yet I must die, or live miserable. Farewell!"

BANKING HOUSE ROBBED.—The banking house of Messrs. Branch & Sons, in Petersburg, was robbed on Friday morning last. Six young men have been arrested, charged with the commission of the robbery. Three of them, Robert Clark, Robert Lotsey and John Shay, hail from this city; the other three gave their names as Charles Bruce, from Alexandria, Jas. Dopson, from Norfolk, and Edward Andrews, from St. Louis. Three of the men were caught in the house; the other three made their escape, but were subsequently captured. Upon examination it was ascertained that only $26 60, all in specie, had been abstracted from the house. The parties were committed for trial. Shay was identified as the party who, a few nights since, stole a horse and mule from Mr. Johnson, of Petersburg.

On Friday night, Charles Bruce, Edward Andrews and John Shay managed to make their escape by removing or breaking one or more of the iron bars of one of the windows of their room and letting themselves down by means of a rope. At last accounts they had not been recaptured.—Richmond Republic.

INTO HER MIGHTY TRUMPET—Fame has breathed a new word, SOZODONT, and she is making it resound through the civilized world. It is the Greek for teeth preserver, but in plain English Fragrant SOZODONT, is the most effective dentrifice that chemistry has ever yet extracted from the Oriental vegetable kingdom.

BUCHU is positively down. If so prescribed it will, Consumption or Insanity excepted.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

In affections peculiar to "Females," Impotency, Sterility, or other preparation, all its Obstructions or Retentions, Inflammation, or Ulceration of the Uterus, Weakness, Nervousness, Hysteria, Fits, Pains or Aches in the Back, Loins or Kidneys, Dimness of Vision, Palpitation of the Heart, Blushes, Sallow Complexion, Eruptions on the Face, Pimples, Blotches, Humors of the Skin, Scurvy, Total Prostration of Body and Mind, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Hypochondria, Lassitude, Want of Energy, Confusion of Ideas, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Trembling Sensations, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Insanity, and the whole train of Nervous, Hysterical, Painful, Dreadful Symptoms, Organic Weakness, Sexual Debility, Impotency, Barrenness, Involuntary Discharges, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Hands, Flushed Face, Eruptions on the Face, Pimples on the Face, Blotches, Disordered Vision, Nervousness, Sudden Shocks of Electricity Through the Body, Dreams, Nightmare, Tremblings, Mercurial Diseases, Face Worms, Blotches, Spots, Pains in the Head, Stomach, Limbs, Joints, Back, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Irritability, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and however long standing. Inducing the following train of diseases, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Fever, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Dropsy, Pain in the Side, Jaundice, Disease of the Liver, Erysipelas, Scurvy, Itch, Scrofula, Consumption, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Skin, Fever, Ague, Chronic Inflammation of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Calculus, Enlargement of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Female Complaints, Epilepsy, Spasms, St. Vitus Dance, Scrofula in all its forms, Diseases arising from Habits of Dissipation, Imprudence in, or the Change or Stoppage in life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH,

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from Habits of Dissipation at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiba and Mercury in all these diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

In all Diseases of these organs, whether existing in "Male" or "Female," from whatever cause originating, and no matter how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from Broken down or Delicate Constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect his Bodily Health, Mental Powers, and Happiness.

All the above diseases require the aid of a diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
Is the great Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

For purifying the blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases, arising from an impure state of the blood and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Ulceration of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Tetter, Erysipelas, and all scaly eruptions of the skin,

AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

Not a few of the worst disorders that affect mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the blood, instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which cause disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body and expells the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought for, and now for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonfuls of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla prepared according to the decoction as usually made.

THESE EXTRACTS HAVE BEEN ADMITTED TO USE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY, and are also in very general use in all the State HOSPITALS and PUBLIC SANITARY INSTITUTES throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as invaluable remedies.
